In a verdant, age-old forest, there is a reside Luna, a rabbit which is unlike any other. Mesmerized by the night sky, she spent evenings gazing at stars, dreaming of cosmic mysteries. Her curiosity was insatiable, differed greatly from her peers, who preferred forest's tranquil life.

At one clear night, Luna embarked on an unexpected journey. Guided by constellations, she ventured beyond known paths. She leapt over streams and navigated through dense underbrush, her heart pounded with excitement. Her adventure took her to the tallest hill in the forest, just as dawn first light crept over the horizon. There, Luna beheld the sunrise of unimaginable beauty, kaleidoscope ~~the sun-~~ ~~rise~~ of colors that stirred her soul. That moment of awe brought profound realization: stars were mesmerizing, but her own world was equally splendid. Luna's story, a blend of celestial wonder and earthly beauty, became endure legend, inspiring all to appreciate the magic of both distant dreams and beauty close at hand.

"The Day Everything Went Wrong (But Ended Right)"

On the 11th of February I had my first university exam. I have always been a very functional person, so I didn't have any worries about time (but I should). The night before the exam I set the alarm on 6:30 and went to bed. All night I had nightmares. When I woke up and looked at my watches, I thought I was dreaming - it was 7:30!!! I flew into my bathroom, ~~cleaned~~ ^{brushed} my teeth and left my apartment. As soon as I was walking I realized that I ~~was~~ didn't change my sleep clothes - I WAS WALKING THE WHOLE STREET IN MY PAJAMAS! During my way I slipped ~~and~~ and fell ^{for} few times on the floor as I was running fast. I think I've met all the people I've known in this city at that time. When I entered the university at first sight I thought that the doors were closed but when I came ~~closer~~ ^{closer} I understood that everything was alright. After all my hilarious failures I made it to my exam and passed it.
