Task w1.

1. Mr. Gupta advised Rohan to imagine every grain of sand in an hour-glass as a wasted opportunity. He told the young man to start by setting goals and breaking down big tasks into small steps, and to always remember that success comes to those who understand the value of time.

2. Rohan began to change his life by organizing a daily routine and eliminating distractions to focus on his goals.

3. As a result of his newfound dedication, Rohan accomplished many tasks he'd been putting off for

~~For~~ many years, pursued his passions and discovered new talents.

4. As Rohan grew ~~deeper~~ older, he came to a realisation that the true power of time is in nurturing relationships and time is a limited resource.

5. As Rohan grew old, his ~~the~~ village honored him by sharing his message about the ~~importance~~ importance of time ~~all~~ all around the world.

6. Rohan's story was an example for the younger generation, ~~and~~ teaching them the significance of time.

7. Rohan played a pivotal role in the village's transformation.

8. Rohan taught the younger generation to value the time they have.

9. Rohan's story inspired countless people by reminding them of the ~~the~~ power of time.

10. As a result of Rohan's story, people began to understand that time isn't just a commodity, but a gift to be treasured.

Task 18.

In this essay I will analyze and discuss the most common daily activities in the life of a teenager.

From looking at the chart, we can see that most teenagers nowadays spend a good portion of their day sleeping, seemingly getting a healthy 8 hours' of sleep. It's good to see that the younger generation is taking care of their sleep schedule.

If we're looking at teenagers' activities during their awake hours, we can observe that teens spend twice as much time using electronic devices as they do studying. It's a rather sad development - it's quite upsetting to see kids and teenagers nowadays wasting all their free time surfing the Internet. It's understandable, though - the Web has near infinite content and entertainment that people get baited by.

To summarize, teens' activities nowadays are very different from what they used to be, but we can't say if those changes are for better, or worse yet.
