Task 1.

1. The central character in the story is the boy Rohan. He was known for wasting his time and ~~procraster~~ procrastinating.

2. Rohan had one habit that hindered his progress. It was his laziness.

3. Rohan was curious about the arrival of Mr. Gupta in the village.

4. Mr. Gupta was sitting on a large tree when Rohan approached him for guidance.

5. Mr. Gupta was using hourglass to symbolize the importance of time to Rohan.

6. Villagers learned some of the Mr. Gupta's lessons. Firstly, time is a gift, you can't just waste it. Secondly, success come to those who value the time. Thirdly, it all begins with small steps. Finally, probably the most important advice was about the fact that time flies.

7. The villagers trully understood the importance of time. Rohan was the perfect example of it.

8. Every minute of your life should make sense. You will change the world if you want to.

9. Rohan's understanding of time definitely changed over the years. Time is dedicated for ~~the~~ things and people that matter. Rohan was no more procrastinating.

10. I believe, the ultimate lesson that ~~the story of Rohan and Mr. Gupta conveyed to everyone was~~ of Rohan's and Mr. Gupta's story was about the true power of time. True power of time ~~as~~ is about spending time with your loved ones, not accomplishing all the assignments.

Task 8.

Nowadays, our world is all about the Internet and social media. As for teenagers, they spend a lot of time in their gadgets. Does it reflect on them? Let's discuss.

The number of teens who have social networks is blowing my mind. They spend most of the day scrolling through the Internet. However, I can't say that social media is so bad. Some ~~ad~~ teenagers just need to use it in a right way.

Well, isn't it crazy that an average teen has ^{more than} two hundred and one Facebook friends? They might not even know about each other! But I think, it ~~is~~ ^{is} a pretty good way to make new friends.

The quarter of all Facebook users are children under the age of ten. We can't forget about their safety.

To sum it ^{all} ~~all~~ up, ~~Internet and~~ the Internet and social networks remind me of an addiction. We have to take it under control ~~now~~ now.

Task 7.

Not everyone likes big cities. Why?
I want to give some of my ~~assumptions~~
thoughts about it.

To my mind, the dream ~~not~~ of living in a small city or in a countryside comes from the childhood. There is a ~~chance~~ chance that the friend was living in ~~the~~ a village for a long time. Moreover, it might be because of their character.
A lot of people want to leave the big city ~~to start living as a free bird.~~
~~For them the city the city is something~~
~~like a prison.~~ because the city for them
is like a prison.
