Teens In The Internet

The internet has become a major part of our live nowadays. Recent Teen Social Networking Stats clearly proves it.

Twenty years ago this stats would be completely different. The internet wasn't so widespread. Unfortunately, today some kids gets their first phone in the kindergarden. So, when they grow up they can't ~~live~~ ~~image~~ live without it. Always. They are always textin chatting with their friends or just surfing the internet. This is the reason why we have so much kids under the age of ten on Facebook.

These stats is the aftermath we have to face, because the world is changing. People develop new things, explore the options and possibilities of the internet. We have connected our live with the internet with our own hands. We call it progress.

So, internet itself is not harmful. All we have to do is to make sure we can protect our kids ~~from~~ from some parts of it.
