Task 7.

Living in a big city is not as wonderful as it seems to be. ~~More~~ Many city residents want to leave for a smaller town or even a village. Firstly, big cities are very polluted. It's not a rare occasion to see smog or some rubbish on the street. Big cities are very bustling and overcrowded, so the residents have to endure the noise, too. Moreover, there is a lack of nature in cities which may lead to depression.

Task 8.

Networks is something young people can't live without. This essay will consider analyzing the diagram of teen social networking stats and also give some comments on the topic.

The diagram helps us to understand that teens are very active on social media nowadays. They spend a much time online and also do that from a very early age as 25% of Facebook users are under 10 years old.

I can suppose that nowadays more teenagers use social networks at a very young age which may lead to multiple health problems. Otherwise, an average teen has 201

Facebook friends which is good for socializing.

A lot has changed during the past years. People create new gadgets and teens take the opportunity to make their lives more comfortable. Also, social networks help with socialising as some people are too shy to make friends in person.

In conclusion, teenagers use networks daily and this has both pros and cons.
