Task 4

A big city always has a huge number of citizens who have cars. Because of that the air is really polluted and that's too bad for local dwellers' health and well-being.

Another reason is inability to have more personal space. Living in a megapolis means ~~having~~ owning your apartment in a giant block of flats where you have your neighbours living everywhere around you and you can't enjoy peace and quiet after exhausting work day.

Task 8

A number of teenagers who use social networks has increased. Nowadays that's becoming a vital problem.

34% of teens chat with their friends online and just a ~~little~~ few ~~part~~ of them will talk to their mates in real life. I believe that happens because connecting a person face-to-face is tougher than type a message on a screen without worrying. 62

A quarter of all Facebook users are under the age of 10. It means that many kids have their own electronic devices. This makes it harder for parents to protect their children in case of online piracy, as kids can't always figure out that they are tricked. 110

The average teen has around 200 Facebook Friend. For sure there's no chance that the teenager knows at least 50 of them offline.¹²⁴ Basically, these are just strangers and we have no idea if they chat with us for a pleasant reason, so take them with a grain of salt.
