The day of the 31st of December was ~~extremely~~ busy and tiring for my dad. He owns a restaurant. The band that was offered to come cancelled their coming at last time. From this moment everything went wrong. Suddenly dad received a phone call from chef Alex. Alex said that he had come down with a cold and he wouldn't come to the restaurant. Owing to this situation, dad decided to help his employees and cook himself despite the fact that he isn't a professional in this work field. Neither my father nor the workers could manage to cope with everything, but at least they had tried their best.

"Father at the kitchen" was a funny situation. He tried to recall everything that my mum had taught him. Fortunately, he could hold a knife to prepare vegetables. He asked strange questions but everybody understood that such behaviour was right and helpful. Moreover, the guests of my dad's restaurant told my dad that the meals were tasty and they would come more times again.

Why have I decided to write this story? In spite of winning and being afraid of unforeseen circumstances, my dad concentrated on the height that he wanted to scale and everything went right due to his daring steps and being stubborn.
