Task 3

In a verdant, age-old forest, there resided Luna, a rabbit unlike any other. Mesmerized by the night sky, she spends evenings gazing at stars, dreaming of cosmic mysteries. Her curiosity is insatiable, differing greatly from her peers, who prefer forest's tranquil life.

One clear night, Luna embarked on an unexpected journey. Guided by the constellations, she ventured beyond known paths. She leapt over streams and navigated through dense underbrush, her heart was pounding with excitement. Her adventure took her to the tallest hill.

In the forest just as the dawn's first light crept over the horizon.

There, Luna beheld the sunrise of unimaginable beauty, a kaleidoscope of colors that stirred her soul. This moment of awe had brought a profound realization: stars were mesmerizing, but her own world was equally splendid. Luna's story, a blend of celestial wonder and earthly beauty, became an enduring legend inspiring all to appreciate the magic of both distant dreams and beauty close at hand.

Task 8

The state of Oklahoma is best known for being the destination of native americans who were sent off onto reservations back in the nineteenth century. One of the most notorious examples of such a practice committed by white the white ruling people came to be known as "The Trail of Tears".

South Carolina was the first southern slave-owning state to declare its withdrawal from the Union as a means of resistance from the supposed pressure of the North. Such a move would prompt other southern states to leave the Union and to form the Confederacy.

North Dakota is one of the least populated states in America, in part due to it being located in the north of the country. Moreover, the majority of people residing in the state are of german descent, unlike the rest of Americans having predominantly Italian, Irish or Spanish roots.

Texas, the second largest state by land area, used to be part of the Mexican Mexico and even an independent country. As part of the nationwide efforts to expand the territory of the USA westwards, the country declared war on Mexico. As a result, after a brief period of independence, Texas was formally admitted into the Union.

Virginia holds the remarkable distinction for being the oldest state in modern-day United States. Thus, it was also included in ^{the} Thirteen colonies, one of the territories which Britain had on North American continent, that would lay the foundations of American statehood.

Task 9

"The Day Everything Went Wrong (But Ended Right)"

It was another casual day of the week. Nothing foreshadowed trouble: the mundane acts performed like washing up and having a meal, performed by me on a day-by-day basis, reinforced the impression that this day would pass quickly without any bizarre occurrences. Little did I know, however, what was in store for me.

Once I ventured outside to head for ^{the} school, to my dismay, the zip on my ^{the} right boot was broken down. After some hesitation as to whether to try to repair it myself or leave it that way, I opted for the latter. However, these moments of hesitation cost me were to cost me dear. Soon after I saw that the bus which drives to my school ^{was} about to drive away. Having summoned up enough energy and courage, I took up the challenge. With determination that was paired with a firm belief that the bus would stop, I was running as fast as I could. My efforts paid off. ~~The~~ Yet this tremendous achievement was of little consolation to me. It occurred to me all of a sudden that I had left a few books at home. Being devoured by frustration and rage, I was slowly making it to the school entrance, only to find out that the lessons had been cancelled due to heavy snowfall. On my way back I noticed a shoe-repairing shop and leveraged the opportunity. All is well that ends well, as they say, well, as they say.
