There has been a spate of muggings in cities across the globe as muggers are focusing on a new item to steal – luxury coats. One man in Birmingham in the UK was slashed across his face as thieves made off with his jacket. Criminals are targeting coats that cost as much as $2,200 each. As well as literally stealing the coats of people's backs, thieves are breaking into people's vehicles. Professor David Wilson, a criminologist at Birmingham city University, warned that the muggings were the start of a new "luxury crime trend". He said the thefts were "worrying".

Professor Wilson warned those with high-end winter jackets to be careful. He said: "I would tell anyone wearing ... branded jackets to be careful and be aware of your surroundings and who is around you. You have to be ... for ... who might try to steal them". He added that: "Thieves used to target Rolex watches which go for thousands of pounds and then sell them online." A London transport ... person said: " ... coats are targeted for robbery. It's a real ... to us because it really impacts the safety of young people on the network". She added that this " ... crime" was "very ... , intimidating and frightening".

I ran to the kitchen in panic and tried to cook something for breakfast, but it also didn't go as I planned because almost all of the products were spoiled.

I was so mad that I ran straight to my parents. They looked surprised and asked me why am I so nervous. I started to explain how everything went wrong but then I noticed that they are yawning and wearing their pajamas.

Only then I realized it was Sunday. I didn't have to go to school. I exhaled and laughed.
