Task 1.

1. Mr. Gupta told Rohan ~~that~~ that time is a precious gift, so not a single second of it should be wasted.

To follow this idea, he gave ~~some~~ Rohan some small steps to do.

The first one was to ~~set~~ set the goals and prioritise tasks.

The second means to focus on completing them one by one.

All in all, he advised understanding the value of time, because success only comes to ^{the} people who value time.

2. Rohan ~~start~~ began organising his daily routine and setting time frames for all activities.

3. Rohan noticed that he ~~was~~ ^{had} accomplished some tasks that he had been putting off, that he began following his passions and discovering new talents.

4. Rohan realized that the true power of time is not in the number of tasks you can complete in an hour, but in ~~the~~ spending as much ~~a~~ time as possible with the loved ones.

The

5. Younger generation wanted to ~~hear~~ listen to his advice, as he was known for his wise use of time.

6. The younger generation began cherishing every moment of their lives.

7. Rohan.

8. Rohan told the younger generation about being grateful for every second and spending all of them on the most valuable things.

9. ~~R~~ Rohan's story inspired countless ~~the~~ individuals ~~to~~ not ~~so~~ waste any minute of life because time never stops and you can't know when ~~it~~ will be your last minute. When you ~~will~~ face the last minute of your life, you won't want to feel any regret. So, the main idea is to live your life to the fullest.

10. People started perceiving the concept of time differently. They understood that time is a way to shape your destiny. So, if you use it mindfully, you'll get what you want.

Task 7

Nowadays, people mostly live in the cities. Therefore, living in the countryside can't be easy, and I think she could give many reasons for her hate towards the countryside. For example, she could be upset over the fact that museums and theatres are located in the big cities, because it makes it harder for people from the countryside to broaden their horizons. Another issue is the lack of respectable schools nearby. These factors lead to ~~diffy~~ difficulties with getting into a university.

Task 3.

The diagram presents daily activities for teenagers. According to it, they spend nearly one-third of their day on sleeping which is eight hours. So, there doesn't seem to be ~~is~~ a problem with insomnia. The other one-third of the day is dedicated to eating, studying and doing homework. From this fact we can see that there are too many things to study, because four hours is a lot. The last one-third of the day is free time. Teenagers spend the same amount of time on videogames, sports, phone/texting and being online. The variety amongst their activities is ~~is~~ using gadgets and sports.

I reckon, there's an issue with teenagers not being present. They spend the majority of their time using gadgets. ~~Teenagers~~ Teenagers don't hang out with their friends outside.

Nowadays, teenagers are busy with school and don't have time ~~to~~ for hobbies. Similar hobbies is what makes people want to become friends. So, there's ~~the~~^a lack of friends.
