Task 1.

1. Mr. Gupta gave Rohan an hourglass and told him to imagine that every falling grain is a wasted moment.
2. He slowly stopped procrastinating and started spending more time with his family. He became good at managing time. He organized his routine.
3. He pursued his passions, completed goals he set off for a long time, and started spending time with his family.
4. Every second spent with loved ones is precious.
5. Everyone remembered Rohan's ways and started thinking of time as something precious.
6. They learned the importance of managing time well and not putting important tasks off.
7. Mr. Gupta was the reason Rohan changed the village for the better, so both of these people played an important role in transforming it.
8. That people must stop wasting time by doing nothing and procrastinating.
9. Rohan inspired others to take action now instead of later, not to waste the precious moments they spend living.
10. They started viewing time as something important.

8. They had finished editing this text two hours ago.
9. Could you write your business partner a thank-you note?
10. You should put on your jacket, it's cold and windy today.

Task 7. Due to being disconnected from the city, a country side usually has bad internet connection. Not many people choose to live away from towns, so there would also be a very limited amount of stores and restaurants, if any. People usually move to the countryside to do farm work, which requires a lot of patience and stamina, so people who don't like such activities will struggle with finding something to do and getting food.

Task 8.

If we look at the pie chart, we can see that the three most common ~~activities are~~ daily activities for teenagers are sleeping, eating, and studying or doing homework. The rest of their time is spent on sports and electronics.

Sleeping takes up the largest portion of the pie chart, that being thirty percent. This shows us that teens likely don't get enough sleep at night, so they choose to make up for lost rest by dozing off during the day.

Some teens may feel stressed by the amount of time they spend preparing for school. We can see that studying and doing homework takes up the same portion of the pie chart as eating, which is an activity required to sustain a healthy life. Some youth may feel that spending so much time on school activities is ridiculous.

The rest of the teens' time is spent on sports or some form of entertainment.

All things considered, I feel that every activity present on the pie chart takes up a mostly reasonable amount of time.

Task 9.

1. Grade
2. Cafeteria
3. Backpack
4. Lunch
5. Exercise
