Task 7

People often don't like living in a countryside and there are many reasons why. The first reason is that the countryside is ^{often} really far from towns and big cities and there aren't many shops, cinemas, theatres and other attractive places that are usually in towns. Also, if your friend is a student, it's not convenient for her to study. There aren't usually schools in the countryside. If she's an adult, it's also inconvenient: her work is perhaps in town.

Task 8

Nowadays teenagers have pretty much ways how to spend their free time. However, really many of them, thirty per cent prefer not to surf the net, study or play videogames but to sleep. I suppose that's because teenagers study really hard at school and have much stress in their lives, so they get tired. If not sleeping, youngsters prefer either eating or studying. Eating is also a try to get relaxed. Most of teenagers are students, so studying is a preparation for the next day of learning. Equal parts of teenagers, ten per cent, prefer such daily activities as playing videogames, surfing the net or texting. Smartphones in modern teenagers' lives plays a big role, so they just can't not to use it. Also, some youngsters worry about the shape of their body: the big weight or the lack of muscles. So, there are also ten per cent of teenagers doing sports and keeping fit.
