Task 7

Hello. There are several reasons of hating living in a big city. First reason is air pollution because of smog and smoke from factories and cars. Second reason is there are difficulties with number of people. In big cities there are a lot of people so it can be hard for someone. Third reason contains prices. There are a huge number of shops with clothes and food with high prices.
I hope I have answered your question properly.

Task 8

Hello, my name is Maxim and in my essay I will discuss about teen social networking stats.

On the diagram seventy three percents of teens are on social networks. In our time almost every teen is on social networks. I believe that they are on social networks because information can be checked on the Internet. Also thirty seven percents of people who were asked said that they send messages to friends everyday. It can be like that because people can know each other but live too far from friend, so they can chat. Eight percents of American teens use Twitter. In Twitter you can find something really captivating for yourself, so I think this is the reason. However, spend too much time on the Internet is bad for health, so a good choice will be go for a walk.

I would like to end my essay here, thank you.
