Task 2

There can be a lot of reasons to avoid living in a big city. Big cities are always crowded. In the morning there are enormous traffic jams, so it takes a long time to get somewhere. Moreover, the air in big cities is often polluted, so living in such a place can be bad for your health. By the way, big cities are really noisy. There are loads of cars, people and factories.

Task 3

Social Networks become more and more popular among the teenagers nowadays. Young people use them to communicate with ~~their~~ friends or share photos and videos or upload music. To prove it, let's analyze the diagram.

First of all, you can notice that 73% of teenagers are on Social Networks. It is more than a half and I'm sure that this number will increase in the nearest future.

People often say that Social Networks are addictive, especially for teenagers. However, the diagram shows that only 37% of them send messages to friends every day. It is really few, including the fact that Social Networks were made for communication between users.

The diagram shows that only 8% of American teenagers use Twitter. In my opinion that's because Twitter is more popular in Europe among people who is over 25.

In conclusion, there are different Social Networks for people of different culture and age, but mostly they are used by teenagers.
