Task 1

1. He told Rohan that time is similar to an hour glass and each grain in it is a moment which can't be returned. Mr Gupta advised Rohan to set goals and focus on them and to manage his time effectively.
2. He started to change his daily routine by doing some tasks and activities which were based on his goals.
3. He noticed that his tasks had been done and his goals had been reached. Also Rohan discovered his talents.
4. He ~~re~~realised that time is a resource and a treasure. Also Rohan understood that we have little time and we should spend more time with our families.
5. People in his village started to ask him for an advise.
6. He told them to take every moment and to make the best of their lives.
7. Mr Gupta played a pivotal role.
8. The main thing Rohan wanted to share that time is a treasure and that the youngest generation should take the best of life.
9. People also started to change their routine and their life became better. They knew that Rohan had been very lazy but he changed.
10. They started to perceive that time is the biggest treasure.

Task 7

I think that not everyone loves living in the countryside. There are a lot of ~~thing~~ things which aren't good.

At first you can't have electrical appliances there.

The second reason is that if you need new things you have to go to the closest city and shop there.

The third reason is that you have less abilities to communicate in the countryside.

All these reasons mean that you have less conviniences there.

Task 8

In this pie chart is shown that mostly teenagers sleep. This can be explained because their body is growing and the possible effect of it could be sleeping for a long time.

Activities on the second place are eating and studying. This also could be explained. Teenagers have a lot of homework to do so it takes a plenty of time. And eating is a process which is needed for survival. Also teenagers need to eat more because their body is growing.

According to this pie chart time spent on sports, texting, online and video videogames is the same. These activities depend on the interests of teenagers. For example, if a teenager wants to become an athlete, he spends a lot of time doing sports. But if he wants to compete in videogaming, he mostly spends time online or playing videogames.

So, daily activities could depend on hormones and on interests.
