Just when demographers are ringing alarm bells about overpopulation Amazon founder Jeff Bezos says we need to populate the solar system. Mister Bezos was asked for his thoughts on humanity living in outer space in a thousand years time. He replied: "I would love to see just one billion humans living in the solar system. If we had a trillion humans we would have at any given time 1000 Mozarts and 1000 Einsteins... space would be full of life and intelligence and energy." He added that he wants to help build heavy infrastructure that will be used by the space entrepreneurs of future generations... so that C 1 imagination can really be unleashed.

Mister Bezos's thoughts are echoed by fellow multi-billionaire Elon Musk owner of ~~EX~~ (formerly known as Twitter). In 2021 he said of the human race: "I don't want to be one of those single-planet

1.3) species; we want to be a multi-planet species.' Earlier this year, Mr Musk warned that 'population collapse due to low birth rates is a much bigger risk to civilisation than global warming... more & more work' Mr Musk conceives of people living in giant space stations. He said most inhabitants of these would visit Earth for vacation. He envisions our planet returning to its pristine environment as factories would be built in space. He said ~~that~~ would exploit resources on the Moon, Mars, on asteroids instead of using up Earth's.

In a vibrant coastal town, lives Zoe, a young chef with extraordinary talent. Fascinated by exotic flavors she dedicates her time to creating innovative dishes, her skills far surpassing those of her traditionalist colleagues.

One brisk morning, Zoe embarks on a spontaneous quest for culinary inspiration. Driven by her passion for unique ingredients, she explores local markets and remote fisher villages. She was wandering around bustling bazaars, her sense aligned with the array of spices and fresh seafood. Her search brought her to a hidden cove at dawn, just as the fishermen were bringing in their early catch.

There, Zoe discovered a rare fish, its flavor unlike anything she had ever tasted. This discovery ignites a burst of creativity; the ocean's beauty was exhilarating but there were unexpected finds that truly inspired her. Zoe's culinary adventures, blending traditional techniques with avant-garde tastes, soon became legendary, inspiring others to explore and embrace diverse flavors of the world.

- Greedflation - the term is inherently connected with our consumerist culture, where the surplus of produced ^{in our modern society} ~~but unused~~ goods is grossly inflated. Our consumerist greed is culpable.
- De-influencing - the act of refusing human impact on the environment as well as negating its detrimental consequences
- Ultra-processed - uses many of food's processed synthetically and unnaturally which leads to the products losing all their nourishing properties.
- Naps baby - a term evocative of nepotism a notion for describing a variety of elitism among relatives and those of akin.
- Being clod - for me to know, but blindly guessing it might be to do with some kinds of social mediocrity or complacency.

1) A store purchased in 1867 from the Russian Empire intended as a present for the USA by Catherine II, a Russian empress. It has its capital in the city of Jareum, which is the only major settlement there.

2) A store named after a British monarch. It is universally recognized by its nickname 'the peach store' that is evocative of the commodity the store abounds with.

1.2) Has its capital in Atlanta.
2) Another state named in honor of a renowned monarch, but a French one this time. It was purchased in 1801 of France's share accord for a song, so to speak, given the extensive lands it added to the US continent.

4) One of the two enclave states located on the South coast of the US famous for being the birthplace of the first ever ^{and the second} ~~skinner~~ ^{skinner} president. It is currently the most recently ^{added} ~~added~~ ^{joined} state.

3) The state is considered to be one of the largest in the country. It is home to many a landmark, numbering Hollywood Los Angeles among them. Overshadowed by nearby megapolises its capital city Sanse-le languishes in obscurity from the traveler's eye. A journey

Once I was commuting back home on one of those weary week days when in an unthinking moment I felt asleep and was so until the very last train station, ~~over~~ when I got off the train, my head being in a kind of trance haze, I didn't immediately realise that I was in the ~~middle~~ ^{middle} of nowhere, some god-forsaken place really. It was a critical moment to take drastic action and get myself out of the dead-end spot. To this end, I addressed one of the station workers in a confident hope to obtain ~~some~~ ^{some} enlightenment on where I had been flung to. Then his answer followed and it took me by surprise that I was in the town of my mother's childhood. I couldn't believe how fortunate

I was to let my feet move, for my beloved mother was always going on and on about her classes and handbags those times were giving much credit to the town for creating an inimitable ambience of an isle for future work which never failed to ignite my vivid imagination. And here I was instantly shedding my first-minute inhibitions, pleasantly gambling among the gleaming, sleek, & moving with a spirit so loose and masterly. For me, my mother I still remember those flabbergasted looks on my mother's face when I was back to school the whole thing.
