Task 7

There are many reasons to hate living in a big city. For example bad eco system. There are too much gases produced by cars and factories. Another reason is that big cities are always loud. Even at night time people can still hear car noises. The last reason is that big cities are overcrowded. Maybe for someone it is not a problem, but introverts are really bothered by this.

Task 8. Teen Social Networking Stats.

According to that chart pie, 73% of teens are on social networks. I suggest that the number is so big, because today it's impossible to live without networks. For example, all chats with friends are there. The diagram says that 37% of teenagers are messaging to their friends every day. It's because messaging is easy and fast. There are different apps that can connect you to your friends, like Twitter and Facebook. Only 8% of Americans use Twitter, when 22% of them log on to Facebook 10 times a day. 25% of Facebook users are kids under 10 years old. It's not that much, so I can say that Facebook is an app for older people. It is said, that an average teen has 201 Facebook friends. It is a huge number, but in fact there are about 10 real friends.
