Task 7

There are many reasons why she might dislike living in a big city. For instance, the polluted air and bad ecology there. The lack of nature and the pollution may cause health issues. Another reason to hate living in a big city is a busy lifestyle and terrible traffic. If you work in a city centre away from your home, arriving to the office early in the morning might be very stressful.

Task 8.

There are about 73% of teenagers on social media nowadays. A quarter of Facebook users has not reached the age of 10. What is the reason behind those mind-blowing statistics?

Actually, it's very easy to communicate using social networking sites and messengers. According to the stats 37% of the teenagers send messages to their friends on a daily basis. You don't have to leave your flat to chat with your bestie. Isn't that incredible?

Another reason behind the popularity of social media is its accessibility. It's proven by the statistics that 22% of teens log on to Facebook 10 times per day. That's because it takes just a few clicks to watch videos, listen to music and read articles.

To sum up, the popularity of social media is based on ~~its~~ its endless opportunities of communication opportunities.
