In the century of ^{the} high technologies by all means teenagers prefer to spend their free time, scrolling a ^{social} network feed. In the modern world young generation's daily activities undoubtedly are connected with a smart-phones.

Refer to a shown pie chart I dare say ^{that} the most of teenagers are (73%) ~~who~~ addicted to using phones and can't live without social networks. 22% of teenagers log on to Facebook over ten times per day, consequently Facebook is taking a great advantage of interested users with many friends on this social ~~networks~~ media, including 25% of only pupils of primary school! One of my hypotheses contains that Twitter is not so popular as Facebook nevertheless 8% of American teenagers use this old-fashioned app.

To conclude in today's world we all have

Probably she just thinks it is not her cup of tea, furthermore maybe she ~~likes~~ hates lots of cars hooping without stopping. Another reason is a little amount of abilities to realize herself. I mean not every person can build a great career in a big city.
