Task 7.

In my point of view, disadvantages of living in the countryside are: First of all, you don't have a lot to do there. Second, you can't have a proper education. Third, If you want to have a great job, you must attend a good university, but countryside doesn't provide you a university.

Based on these disadvantages, I can say that it is pretty reasonable to hate living in a countryside, and I agree with her.

Task 8.

People tend to think that teenagers nowadays spend their time only online, playing videogames or just texting with someone, but it's not 100% true.

This pie chart is showing that ~~nowadays~~ teenagers really spend a lot of time online, but they also study, do their homework and some of them even do sports!

I think, it's unfair to say that every single teenager these days do nothing, except for surfing the net. This pie chart is also showing that teenagers spend less time online, than they do homework. They also spend time doing sports as much as they spend time phoning or texting someone.

Even though they still spend a lot of time online, phoning or playing videogames, I can proudly say that it's not teenagers only interest. I also tend to think that some adults spend a lot more time online than or texting their friends, than teenagers.
