Task 1

1. Mr. Gupta told Rohan to look at the sand watch. The grains of sand that fall represent ~~back then~~ every wasted opportunity. The wise man said, "Each Time is a precious gift, it wait for noone." Rohan had to start managing his time, setting goals, and getting them done. Without that all of his time, and opportunities would be gone.
2. To change his ~~life~~ life Rohan began to follow Mr. Gupta's advise. Young man started to set goals and tried achieving them. He also got better at managing his time, and stopped wasting it. He began to prioritize each task that was given to him. Because, as the saying say, "Success comes only to people that can manage time."
3. The newfound dedication payed off amazing positive results. Such as finished tasks and work he could bare to be done for years, long-lost passion for working came back, and he even found new talents!
4. With time as he grew old, Rohan realized that beside his accomplished task there was something more important. ~~Time for with~~ Spending and enjoying time with your love ones. You have to try your best, and spend time together, and appreciate every moment that was given with them. Because time is a limited resource, you might never ^{spend} ~~see~~ your family or friends forever.
5. As he grew old his remarkable achievement were heard and known by everyone in the village. Everyone held their respect to him and made sure to spread his story widely.
6. The younger generation began to learn the importance of time. Now it was no wonder how even such a little thing can control your path.

7 according to the text Rohan played pivotal role in the transformation of the village.

8 The key message was time management and the fact that nothing in this world comes for free. ~~They~~ ^{They} should work hard.

9 Everyone started to understand the importance of time, and the knowledge of Rohan helped them to realize, that to achieve something they have to work hard for it.

10 They all started to see the importance of time, and how it helps to achieve their desires.

- 4 anxious
- 5 gorgeous
- 6 beautiful
- 7 delicious

Task 7 Well, I believe there are plenty reasons why ^{this} friend said that. Firstly, the countryside, honestly, isn't the best place to live in for some people. The pavement there could be terrible, there could be no Internet connection or it could be very ~~low~~ low. I suppose, these are terrible conditions for her to live here. Secondly, she might be a city-person, so of course that muddy countryside would be last place for her to visit compared to gorgeous city! #9

Task 8. Life as a teenager ~~could~~ ^{can} be a hard job. Maintaining school hours, your private life, hobbies, and so on can be quite difficult. The pie chart that is provided here shows daily activities for teenagers. Sleep takes more space of the diagram than anything else. Which makes sense, teenagers have to sleep at least 8 hours per day, and it's $\frac{1}{3}$ of a day! Studying and Eating take 15% each. And I could argue with that, because studying and homework take a lot more time than eating, unless you're cooking food. I'd change the number 15% to 30%, because teens do spend at least 8 hours at school!

Sports, phone/texting, online, and videogames take each 10% of the pie chart. And I suppose it does make sort of sense. However, I don't think teenagers should spend that much time on their devices. It's much healthier to go outside and meet up with your friends, that boredly stare at your screen. ~~That's all I wanted to say.~~
