Task 4.

First of all he would hate the insects. Not only do they bite but they also look gross.

Secondly in the countryside there is no Internet connection, so modern teenager wouldn't be able to survive a single day without being online.

Last but not least he would dislike living in the countryside due to the lack of fast food, since for the most of the time it's the only food that teenagers eat.

Task 8.

Nowadays teenagers have different ways of spending their day. The scientists made a diagram depicting the most popular activities. The most popular way of spending their day is sleeping with 30%. I think it is that high due to the lack of sleep teenagers get because of school. The second most popular option is studying or doing homework with 15%. It was expected since teenagers need to prepare for important assignments or exams. Teenagers also love spending their free time on the phone or on the computer, judging by the diagram each option has 10%. It is common for students to spend time online or playing video games. And the last option has the same percentage as the last three (10%), since people need to stay fit.

The results may be surprising for some people, but for me they were expected, since most of the modern teenagers are very predictable and very lazy.
