Вариант 2

Task 1

Attention, deliberate, apartment, to import

Task 2

a) I was so concentrated on climbing the hill, that I ~~hadn't~~ didn't manage to see the wonderful sunrise right before me. Suddenly, I could hear birds chanting all around me.

It amazed me seeing this beautiful sunrise. I can't even remember having experienced ~~a~~ something like this in my whole life.

I climbed up to a spot where I could comfortably sit. There I took out my phone, made some photos to show my friends after my trip and drank some tea ~~that I brought with me.~~

b) Because I am a big nature fan, I found my trip enlightening. In the one hand I got to spend some alone time with myself, on the other I saw all kinds of wonderful creatures, heard one of a kind bird songs and most importantly saw a flabbergasting sunrise.

Task 3

1. True. This statement is ~~true~~^{ue} because this word became popular in the 1980^s, which was quite recently in my opinion.
2. True. Greenwashing is ~~wha~~ happens when companies promote their products as eco-friendly, when in fact they aren't.
3. False. Fast fashion, for example, consumes a lot of energy and resources while producing products, and waste, which is not helping our planet.
4. Not given
5. True. Young adults are ^{now} interested in analysing greenwashing because they were born at the time when ~~pepe~~^{people} started talking about ecology and they want to leave our planet in "good shape" for the next generations.
6. false. Sustainable products, for example, are products made out of good materials. You can use this product for a very long time, because of its good quality.

7. False. One can't say that all the companies demonstrate ^{them} ~~eco-friendly~~ ~~being eco-friendly~~ ~~being eco-friendly~~, but most of them do tend to do that.

8. Not given

8. ~~Not given~~ True. One can help promote, encourage companies by supporting them, but this only concerns companies ^{that} ~~who~~ genuinely aim for a greener future

10. Not given

Task 4

1. The rule: conditionals

Example: If I didn't know English, I wouldn't be taking part in this olympiad.

2. The rule: Past perfect Tense

Example: I had finished all my homework by the time it was due to.

3. The rule: Present Continuous Tense

As soon as I come home I'm going to bed.

Task 5

1. eat my words
2. a hot potato
3. a black sheep
4. gave me a hard time

Task 6

A2. Quote 2

B3. Quote 1

C1. Quote 3

Task 7

The House of Lords is the upper Chamber and the House of Commons is lower Chamber. The head of the British Government is the Prime Minister.
