Вариант 1

Task 1.

Adult, to export, import.

Task 2.

Once, I was walking along a forest path. Suddenly I've noticed a blue paintmark on a tree. It was already past midnight and the strange mark was glowing in the dark.

I've felt hypnotised by the magic glow. I wanted to come closer, to touch, to lean on the tree. That sudden intention scared something inside me. But the irrational part won. Slowly, I've reached out my hand. Relief went ~~me, as~~ through me, as the glow became stronger and filled all of my vision.

Hopefully, it was ~~all~~ a dream. Though a interesting one. Questions started to rush through my head. The magic glow. Why blue? I've ran my eyes through my sleeping journal. Nothing. Talked to my mother. Nothing. I guess what happens in a dream, stays in a dream.

Task 3.

1) False. Because we can read in the text that while climate fluctuations can be natural, human activity has ~~been~~ been a major cause since the industrial age.

2) False. The excessive levels of gases are resulting in a warmer Earth. What leads to various problems including rising sea levels.

3) True. Reducing emissions is crucial in tracking climate changes. What can be done by switching to a renewable source of energy like solar power.

4) False. Because trees that help ~~the~~ the Earth by absorbing carbon dioxide are being cut down rapidly what prevents their important help.

5) Not given.

6) False. Because we can read in the text that special agreements aim to unite countries in reducing global warming. It is not a local initiative.

7) False. Businesses and governments are also responsible for setting and following guidelines ~~to~~ to curb emissions. It is clearly stated in the text.

8) True. Yes, climate change has already impacted ecosystems and communities worldwide. So that's why it is important to address this crisis urgently.

9) False. It is considered necessary to educate about the climate change because it is important for our present and future generations.

10) Not given.
