- What emotions I felt.

Being really frightened, I couldn't move at all. I had not expected such a meeting! My blood was full of adrenaline, so I decided to take ~~action~~ some actions.

- What actions I took

Trying to seem bigger than I really was, I threw my arms up and began screaming. The bear shranked back and ran away.

Task 2

I was hiking alone. Unfortunately, an enormous bear appeared, while I was climbing a hill. My will to survive was very strong, so I threw my arms up and began screaming. The bear shrank back and ran away. It was the most exciting experience of my whole life!

Task 3

1. Not given.

I think so, because ~~there is information only about the time when this word became popular.~~ in the text there is information in the text only about the time, when this word became popular. It was in 1980s.

2. True

I choose this option, because it's said, that, using greenwashing, companies increase their profits, and improve their image. These are goals of the marketing.

3. Not given.

I think so, because I didn't find any information about using recycling waste in fashion business in the text.

4. False

I choose this option * because 'fast fashion' leads to more consumption, massive use of energy and waste. There isn't any information about delivering.

5. Not given

I think so * because there is not any information in the * text about analysis of greenwashing approach among young adults.

6. True

I think so * because a 'sustainable' material is a material, which can be used in garments for along time without any signs of exploitation.

7. False.

I think so * because in ^{the} text it's said, that most of the world's biggest companies tried to demonstrate that they are eco-friendly. Not all companies.

8. True

I agree with that point of view because it is said, that young adults have the power to inspire real change in the industry.

9. True

I think so because it is said, that greenwashing often promotes company's profits, but not always. So some companies can have bad experience.

10. Not given.

I think so because there is information in the text only about one world's biggest company. Information about others isn't given.
