Task 4

Paragraph 2

At first, Clara had turned a blind eye, supposing that it's practically impossible to participate in such exclusive event. But sooner or later, at the back of her mind, the inner voice started telling her not to be ignorant this time. "Clara, it's destiny, you have been chosen for this!" And if Clara indeed returned to her mundane routine, she wouldn't have discovered the perks of that extraordinary opportunity.

Paragraph 4

On the verge of having a breakdown, Clara was filled with rage. Not only did the classmates underestimate her but they had assumed she was weak and powerless. Little did they know that Clara was an academic weapon itself. No matter what, she would secure a place in the programme. And Clara did that in one go by starting to live a hectic life filled with panic and pressure.

Paragraph 6

Moreover, Clara began to have numerous doubts, that she must've been reckless embarking on that journey, that she shouldn't have taken for granted the immediate success. But her mindset was set pretty straightforward-achieving that goal. She kept telling herself "By the end of the day, I'll have accepted the offer". In the end, Clara really discovered her true potential and that was the most rewarding experience for her.
