Task 4.

Paragraph 2: ~~Oliver~~

Oliver was trying to leave a message for his mom when he received an email from his old friend Billy, he met during his visit to a poker club (such things happen once in a blue moon). Billy was offering him an illegal job under the governmental control with some people in his element. If Oliver hadn't known this man for ten years, it would have been the last straw for deleting ~~this~~ message.

Paragraph 4:

Had it not been about the money, Oliver would have declined this offer. But, unfortunately for him, he was sick of his pathetic condition — he has been trying to make ends meet almost every month. Therefore, the opportunity was able to solve this issue by and large. Oliver got in a difficult situation. From one side there were his ~~beliefs~~ principles, from the other — wealth.

Paragraph 6:

His participation could not be reluctant after signing ~~the~~ the papers. 'All these men staring at me, waiting for my answer. That disturbs me! Would I ~~be~~ regret about my choice like the guy from the 'wardogs'? Or should I take advantage of such an opportunity?', Oliver thought. This hard choice is now only his. But maybe everything could have been different if only Oliver had not received that email.
