Task 8

I could be able to see the advertisement "Reduce speed now" in ~~the~~ one of the streets in some megalopolis. In metropolises streets tend to be overcrowded, especially during the rush hour, when people commute. After a long day everyone can be extremely tired. What is more, an intense pace of life can be overwhelming and stressful for some people. That is why this advertisement asks people to slow down and stop rushing. From my point of view, such advertisement, located in the street packed with people, can be a reminder to calm down after a long busy day.
