Task 4.

Paragraph 2

It said Oliver is one of the few people who got this invitation. Scientists from all corners of the country meet once in a blue moon to create "The shapeshifting potion". Imagine that you could be in someone's element. But the final straw was that Oliver will be the first human to test it. If Oliver wants to join he must leave his old work.

Paragraph 4

Is this really a good organisation? - Oliver asked himself. The dark figures of mad scientists standing by and large flashlights pointing at his pathetic existence of a "failed test". His head was filled with such thoughts. Oliver wanted to calm down: "Illegal organisation wouldn't text so openly". To make ends meet, he have been thinking about possible positive outcomes before he fell asleep.

Paragraph 5

All Oliver's worries wiped away. He thought about why he couldn't do something like that earlier? Always following the rules, hoping that patience would pay off. And look what happened - one day changed everything. His life wasn't predictable anymore, he could turn the science society upside down and gain popularity. Oliver takes advantage of the situation, becoming the part of the team. There's no way back.
