Task 4

§2 When translating texts in Japanese to Tatar, Oliver felt in his element. He knew if he had spent time and money on marketing, he would have received an offer earlier. But market price for his translations ~~was~~ ^{was} laughably small and gratuities ~~that~~ were given once in a blue moon. This feeling of being treated for granted by his clients was the ~~last~~ straw.

§4 No sooner had Oliver realised constant struggles to make ends meet weren't a solution than he replied on the email. He knew he was being pathetic hoping ~~for an answer~~ that by and large corporation would pity him after the weeks of his deliberate ignorance. ~~Added But~~ to Oliver's surprise, he ~~was~~ ^{got} remarked, 'We ~~we~~ have been waiting for your ~~reply~~. To discuss the details we invite you in the ~~head~~ HQ.' ~~telephone call~~

§6 'I could have got a job in this company much earlier! But I'm always trembling like a leaf when it comes to making any, even unimportant, decision!' ~~Oliver confessed in his diary after coming home. 'I won't let them take advantage of my fearfulness anymore! I'm going to break the circle and start translating and writing anything, even articles about~~ ~~perh!~~

Usually reluctant to show emotions, Oliver confessed in his diary after coming home. 'I won't let them take advantage of my fearfulness anymore! I'm going to break the circle and start translating everything ^{want} with my new team, even articles about poth!'

Task 5.

1. busybody - someone who sticks their ^{nose} in other people's business, trying to look smarter, better than everyone else.

2. to be poised to do something - to ~~be~~ be ready to do something, usually already having certain plans and expectations for the upcoming actions.

~~3. to agree to disagree - to decide that a discussion is pointless, therefore arriving to conclusion that everyone~~

3. to agree to disagree - to decide that a discussion is pointless because everyone sticks to their ^{beliefs} ~~beliefs~~, therefore concluding to stop a ~~missile~~ quarrel.

4. sluggish - being worse in quality, sleepy and less precise, usually after an intense activity.

5. to pan out - to come to a certain conclusion, ~~whether~~ to be understandable if something has lived up to expectations or not.
