Task 4.

Paragraph 2.

Clara decided, if she likes the programme, she would confirm her interest. It turned out that the programme offered students an opportunity to practise their abilities in a big company. Clara always knew at the back of her mind that sooner or later she would work there. She couldn't believe it would happen soon. The decision of joining the group has been made and Clara needs to prepare for it.

Paragraph 4.

However, Clara did decide to join the group. The last thing she needed to do was to pass an entering exam. Her decision was a bit hectic, so Clara wasn't ready for the test. She was on the verge of refusing to go there. Luckily, she had read ~~some~~ ~~the~~ some useful books in one go and passed the test with flying colours. Unfortunately, not everyone liked it.

Paragraph 6.

Clara went straightforward to the classroom. She found her teacher there and asked her what she should do. The teacher answered: "Clara, you must have been dreaming about it for so long. Don't even think about what other people say!" A few days later Clara joined the group. Next week she will have already finished the course. Her achievements were taken for granted. A rewarding ceremony will be soon.
