Task 5.

Busybody — a disapproving way to call people who are too interested in other's business.

To be poised to do something — a state of being almost ready to complete an action, do something.

To agree to disagree — an act of understanding that opponents won't come to an agreement and respecting viewpoints of both sides to avoid conflicts.

Sluggish — slow, almost lazy-like, not proper because of exhaustion or lack of resources.

To pan out — to work out, turn out or pay off, to end.

Task 6.

1. She had never experienced such pressure before.

2. I would have told you earlier.

3. It was his honesty that impressed me.
4. She would have reacted differently if she known the truth.
5. The plan is unrealistic to be believed.
6. He kept working although he was exhausted.
7. A task was such complicated that only a few completed it.

Task 7.

1. Newton wasn't a developer of the theory of evolution by natural selection, Darwin was.
2. Einstein never worked on DNA structure, Watson and Crick discovered it themselves.
3. Marie Curie wasn't an inventor of the first practical telephone, but I don't remember who was.
4. Charles Darwin wasn't the first scientist to discover gravity, Newton was.

5. Steam engine wasn't invented by Tesla, but by another scientist whose name I can't recall.

Task 4.

Paragraph 2:

If it hadn't been for his <sup>p</sup>supportive girlfriend who said that such ~~opportu~~ deals come once in a blue moon, he wouldn't even have that email opened. The opportunity had already caught his attention. Oliver thought that the final straw for him would be his friend's opinion. How could he leave his current position, a place where he truly felt in his element, for an unknown fledgling company?

Paragraph 4:

He tossed and turned ~~all night~~ while thinking.

His current workplace had some financial problems recently. By and large, he ~~was struggling~~ have been struggling to make ends meet for the past seven months.

The company that emailed him promised that had he accepted the offer, he would be rolling in it. Without being pathetic, Oliver realised that money has always been a sore point for him.

Paragraph 6:

"You're putting yourself down, stop it!" Oliver thought to himself while walking out of the office building. If only he could go back in time and persuade himself that he deserves success from the start. Reluctant, he phoned his boss, whose voice suddenly started to sound posh, to resign. Oliver decided that he was going to take advantage of the new opportunity.
