Paragraph 2

It have been cleared that it was a good option for her. However, Clara wasn't sure. If she confirms her interest in this programme, she will probably be chosen as a final participant. Clara was a brilliant student but sooner or later her jealous classmates will find out. They won't turn a blind eye on this. But the idea to claim her participation was at the back of Clara's mind.

Paragraph 4

When she came home, she had already decided to confirm her interest in the programme on the verge of justice. Clara thought it would be fair to compete with others. She did all the tasks from the message in one go and sent the email with her answers. It might be hectic, but Clara was sure she will win. She didn't know her name would appear on the participant board in the school.

Paragraph 6

When the final participant was chosen, almost everybody in the school was disappointed. It must be obvious that Clara won. She went ~~straight to~~ straight-forward to the participant board and held her breath: her name was the one that stayed here. It was rewarding to finally leave this school. Clara hoped that she will have found new friends in this programme that won't take her achievements for granted to the start of next year.
