Paragraph 2.

Clara would be absolutely happy if she could turn a blind eye and ignore this offer. The whole idea of the international exchange have been considered burdensome and reluctant by the girl. However, in the back of her mind she would like to take part in it as it seemed quite thrilling and advantageous to her. Sooner or later, she decided to confirm her interest in the programme.

Paragraph 4.

The overheard conversation had inspired Clara to do her best in order to join the exchange. She was deeply insulted by her classmates' words and ~~had~~ tried to use every opportunity to prove herself since then. Clara had decided to show everyone that she was good enough to be the selected student. Her efforts could not be ignored, and she was chosen for the programme.

Paragraph 6.

Clara will have asked lots of questions soon. She could not understand the reason of the pressure she faced and how to cope with it. It must have been just a rewarding experience of an international exchange, not a social isolation. Clara will have all her questions answered after going straightforward to the principal's, where she was told that she should take for granted. This situation is going to change her mind.
