Paragraph 2.

Mathematics and programming had always been Oliver's life's element. He was nerdy and left home once in a blue moon, since he always studied. Oliver lived with his parents and wanted to change that. Had he been indecisive, he wouldn't have dared think about using the opportunity, but it was the final straw. Oliver was invited to a team of programmers that wanted to create a new AI.

Paragraph 4.

Next day Oliver decided to tell his parents about the email. Oliver's mom said, "We're not gonna support it! You'll not receive any money from us. How will you make ends meet yourself?" Oliver was shocked. He said, "I've been listening to you for years! Enough! Never again will I do what you say!" By and large, Oliver had the right to decide what to do himself. He was unyielding.

Paragraph 6.

After all, Oliver decided to take advantage of the opportunity and joined the team. His mom reluctantly accepted this fact, saying, "You're always being so rebellious!" Oliver dreamt of making big money on the project and becoming rich. However, he was fired after working in the team for only one year. Oliver thought, "I could have listened to my mom!" He never risked after that.
